Before You Sign

10 Questions Every Person Should Ask Before Signing a Separation Agreement

- 1. Have I received complete financial disclosure from my spouse?
- 2. Have all bank accounts, investments, pensions, business interests, and debts been disclosed?
- 3. Have I fully considered whether I may be entitled to spousal support?
- 4. Am I giving up any future rights or claims by signing this agreement?
- 5. Have I carefully reviewed how property is being divided?
- 6. Does the parenting arrangement realistically work for my children and their future needs?
- 7. Have child support obligations been calculated correctly?
- 8. Have tax implications been considered?
- 9. Has anyone pressured me to sign quickly?
- 10. Have I obtained independent legal advice before signing?

A separation agreement may affect your finances, property rights, parenting arrangements, and future security for years to come.

If you have concerns about any of the questions above, seek legal advice before signing.
